Broadway Show in New York City

When American schools offer a spring break in late-March or early-April, many students travel south to warmer weather or explore bigger cities on the East Coast. One group took a day trip to New York City for a chance to see a Broadway show. "We were impressed with The Phantom of the Opera scenery, singing, and special effects, plus it even had a slightly scary part," said Tianqi "Terry" Li, a sophomore with Renascentia Hall.

Following a quick sightseeing walk around Times Square, they headed off to enjoy dinner at a sushi restaurant. Afterwards, the group fought through the crowds on Broadway to the ToysRUs store. Even though there wasn't time to ride the 60-foot indoor Ferris Wheel, the students enjoyed ice cream before leaving the Big Apple to return to Delaware.

Logging Service Hours is Important

Several students have been offering their community service hours by volunteering at churches, their schools, and local nonprofit organizations. Here is a recent photo printed in the "New Castle Weekly" newspaper showing the RHI group who helped with trash pick-up at the historic Battery Park and Beach Area in Old New Castle in April. Please turn in your school's community service hours forms to Sherry Chen or Yang Song for signature of approval before the end of the semester.

Math Contest Winner

Congratulations to Yitao "Terry" Liu, a senior at St. Mark's High School. Terry has been in the Renascentia Hall program for three years. He won third place individually and was a member of the First Place team from St. Mark's School at the Delaware Secondary School Mathematics League for Region 4.

Student Spotlight

Yifan Lu loves photography, and his hobby reached new heights by winning a 4-H Photography award recently. Lu is a senior at Salesianum School and has been with the Renascentia Hall program for three years. The 4-H judges praised his time-lapse photograph (at right) titled "Chronology."

"I made this composition of three self-portraits to show my student life when all I do is sleep, read, and study," Lu said. He decided to compose the scene because everyday life is a challenge to capture. "I first think about how to shoot the image: from which angle? using which kind of lens? shutter speed? and aperture combination? If your camera has a multi-exposure function, it is easy to do. If not, you can set your camera on a tripod for steadiness. You can put pictures in Photoshop to align and mix them into a single picture."

Lu said he used a Canon 70D, which is "amateur equipment" yet is a good choice for young photographers because it has basic functions that some professionals use. Lu has been interested in photography since 9th grade, when he received his first DSLR (digital single lens reflex) camera. "I did not have a teacher or take any classes," Lu said. "I just learned how to use the camera and Photoshop on my own." Lu would like to continue this hobby in future, but doesn't think it will be his career. "I enjoy taking pictures, and I really cannot say that I have a favorite. All of them are different, I treat every picture that was posted as my favorite."

Education Expo in China

Principal Sam Osbourn from Red Lion Christian School (right) met with Jerry Xiao (left), director of Renascentia Hall, to do student recruiting in the cities of Beijing, Guangzhou, and Shanghai last month. Osbourn said he was happy to see so many talented students at the Expos. He also enjoyed au-

Chinese cuisine and met parents of his current student Frank Lyu during an office visit to Nanjing.
