

Renas Hall International Program at Saint Mark's High School

Volume 1, Issue 4, November 2012

Inner Harbor Baltimore, MD

The students experienced a vintage sailing vessel docked at Inner Harbor. They were surprised to see this type of ship docked in the Harbor which is located among tall buildings and a shopping area. They were impressed with the vast varieties of sea life at the Maryland Aquarium, especially the dolphins as they performed their tricks for the audience. The exhibits included a spectacular view of jelly fish and their habitat.

Among the other activities at Inner Harbor, the students visited the Maryland Science Museum. They were there for several hours participating with experiments and seeing demonstrations by the staff. Baltimore is a wonderful blend of ethnic cultures, and we stopped at the International Market where we had an authentic Asian dinner.

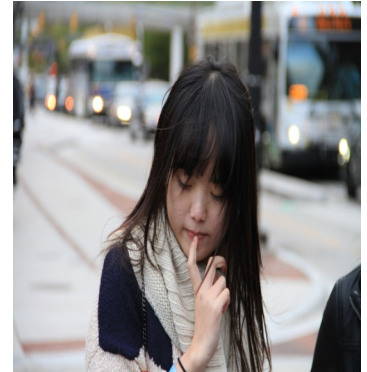

The students wonderful time on the inner Harbor
